

THE CAPITALIST

At the City Championships Prize Winners' Dinner

AMONG the award night crowd, who toasted some of the finest amateur athletes in the Square Mile, we spotted City Championships founder Simon Jacot de Boind alongside former England cricketer Matthew Hoggard and City A.M. managing director Lawson Muncaster.

City A.M.'s very own Amo Chauhan (above right) was crowned Boxing Champ by ex-All Blacks captain Anton Oliver

Sporting victors pick up gongs at City Championships event

THE CITY has a lot of sportsmanship and last night's inaugural City Championships prize winners' dinner proved just that.

Held at M Restaurant on Threadneedle Street, the night celebrated champions who last year competed in various sporting challenges, involving everything from ski slopes to boxing rings to rowing machines, to raise money for three great causes: Maggie's, Future for Heroes and 21st Century Legacy.

City A.M.'s very own Amo Chauhan was crowned the City Boxing Champion.

In the room last night were 140 diners and the winners of the previous year – the 2016 City Champions.

Also present at the event were City Championships' first sports ambassadors: former All Blacks captain Anton Oliver and former England cricketer Matthew Hoggard.

Each of them has pledged not only to spread the good word of City Championships but also to attend a number of the 2017 events, encouraging the amateurs to do their best.

Trophies were handed out to all the winners.

There were some high bids for the silent auction and though everyone entered the prize draw, there could only be one winner for the bespoke Gieves & Hawkes suit.

To find out more about participating in the 2017 championships' programme visit www.citychampionships.com

CITY CHAMPIONSHIPS 2016

IN PARTNERSHIP WITH CITY A.M.

THE WINNERS

CITY GOLFING CHAMPION
(INDIVIDUAL)
RICHARD PALMER

CITY GOLFING CHAMPIONS (PAIR)
CHRIS ANDREWS & ANDY MCMAHON

CITY RUGBY 7S CHAMPIONS
SQUIRE PATTON BOGGS

CITY SHOOTING CHAMPIONS
GEORGE JAMES ASSOCIATES

CITY CRICKET CHAMPIONS
LLOYD'S OF LONDON

CITY POLO CHAMPIONS
BODO'S SCHLOSS

CITY BOXING CHAMPION
AMO CHAUHAN

CITY SKI CHAMPIONS
LLOYD'S OF LONDON

CITY CHAMPIONSHIPS WILL BE SUPPORTING

